 is a refereed journal published twice a year in June and December by the English Department, Faculty of Humanities and Creative Industries, Petra Christian University, Surabaya, Indonesia. It presents articles on the study of language, literature and culture.

In the field of linguistics, it covers language issues researched in the branches of applied linguistics, such as sociolinguistics, discourse analysis, critical discourse analysis, pragmatics, stylistics, corpus linguistics and others. In the area of literature, it covers literature in English which may include written texts, movies and other media. Its overriding objective is to provide a forum for scholars and practitioners within any of the various subspecialties of the discipline to address a broad cross-section of the profession.

Appropriate subjects include, but not limited to, the dissemination of well-conceived analysis, research reports, studies, and application of theories or approaches (critical theory, cultural studies, rhetorics, and many others). No area is less welcome than any other, as long as the topic is of general interest within the profession.

This journal was first published in 1999 and was nationally accredited in 2002, 2005, 2008, 2011, 2018, and 2021. The online version with DOI number for each article is now available at <http://kata.petra.ac.id> and it can also be accessed from ProQuest e- journal (<http://www.proquest.com>). K@ta has also been covered by Directory of Open Access Journals (DOAJ), Mendeley, CrossRef, and Google Scholar. k@ta is now in its bid to develop into an international journal (to be indexed in Scopus).

7. Articles not conforming to the journal’s writing format and APA style as explained above will be returned to the author(s) for reformatting. Authors may revise and resend the articles after these are written in the accepted format and style.

8. References must consist of sources cited in the article only. The majority of references should be recently published materials, i.e., in the last ten years, except the literary works or language texts used as the research data.
9. Manuscript on linguistic issues is preferred to include the following discussion in the Introduction without further subheading: the background of the study, a brief review of literature, the research problem, the purpose of the study and the aims of the paper. The paper can then discuss the method of research, the finding(s) and discussion, and conclusion.
10. Manuscript on literary analysis and others may have subheading when necessary.
11. Articles which quote authors or cite articles previously published in k@ta journal will be prioritized.
12. Articles will be peer-reviewed, and the Editorial Board reserves the right to edit articles for format consistency without altering the substance.
13. Manuscript should be written in MSWord, saved as a Word Document (2010) file and named as [Author's Last Name-Title]. Send the manuscript and the Cover Sheet as e-mail attachment to:

kata@peter.petra.ac.id.
14. If the article is accepted for publication, the author will have to fill in and sign the Copyright Transfer Agreement (CTA), and submit the completed agreement as suggested. The CTA form can be downloaded at <http://kata.petra.ac.id>.
15. There is no publication fee.
16. Authors whose articles are published in k@ta are entitled to a copy of the current volume and two offprints of the articles which will be sent to the corresponding author.
17. Authors whose articles are rejected will get written notification. The Editorial Board reserves the rights to turn down articles without stating the reasons.

Thank you for your interest in publishing your paper in k@ta.

k@ta*'S COPYRIGHT TRANSFER AGREEMENT

The copyright to this article is transferred to the k@ta Journal effective if and when the article is accepted for publication.
